

LOG IN

Check Out

Restaurants & Bars

Shopping

Wellness

Around Town

Art

Books & Poetry

Clubs

Comedy

Dance

Film

Gay & Lesbian

Music

Theater

Features

Out There

Time In

Get Naked

Planet Terry

The Hot Seat

Kids

A smart buyer's guide to styles, shops, sales and services

Time Out New York / Issue 575: October 5–11, 2006

Just opened

FRESH HAIR It's had the same name since it opened as the city's first unisex barbershop in 1971, but there's nothing passé about recently revamped beauty parlor Seagull. The personable new owners, musician Johanna Fateman (of electronic punk band Le Tigre) and Seattle stylist Shaun Cottle, left traces of the original establishment—including the tagline FOR WOMEN... FOR MEN emblazoned in gold on the window—when they completely overhauled the space in August. Filled with custom furniture and standout art, the salon—which offers haircuts ($90) and personalized conditioning treatments (from $75), among other tailored-to-you services—counts a host of art-world celebrities among its regular clients and is well on its way to having birds of all feathers flocking to it. 240 W 10th St between Bleecker and Hudson Sts (212-989-1807).—Kate Lowenstein

Photo: Sandra Roman

Like what you're reading?
Want 8 FREE issues?
Of course you do!

CLICK NOW